TRAIN ROBBERS MAKE BIG HAUL

TIME IS LAST MIDNIGHT

Between 20 And 25 Men In the Band—Gas Bombs Used By the Bandits On Two Cars, Which the Train Mail Clerks Refused to Open

BULLETIN.

Chicago, Ill., June 13.—Hundreds of police, detectives, and sheriff's deputies are on a man hunt through northern Illinois in search of robbers who held up the Chicago, Milwaukee and St. Paul special train and escaped with 42 sacks of registered mail, containing currency and securities estimated at between $1,000,000 and $2,500,000.

The robbery was carried out without the firing of a single shot in defense of the treasure, by 70 clerks, guards and crew, so far as police could ascertain. One bandit was shot down, but the shot was fired by a fellow bandit, who mistook the victim for a mail guard.

Postal inspectors said they suspected the bandits had some help from the inside, and the clerks and guards were taken to the Federal building, when they arrived at St. Paul.

Chicago, June 13.—Forty-two sacks of registered mail containing cash and bonds estimated at between $1,000,000 and $2,500,000, were seized last midnight by a band of between 20 and 25 men who held up the Chicago, Milwaukee and St. Paul mail train near Rondout, Ill., 30 miles north of Chicago.

Gas bombs were used by the bandits on two cars, which mail clerks refused to open The bandits worked for more than an hour, sorting out the mail sacks. One of them was shot accidentally by a comrade, police stated. After the robbery the bandits sped away in automobiles in the direction of Chicago.

Hundreds of police and citizens, armed with shotguns and other weapons, searched the territory between Chicago and Milwaukee.

Shortly before midnight, as the mail train approached Rondout, some one pulled the signal cord. When Engineer Waite stopped, a band of men rushed out of the darkness, some firing revolvers. Bullets clashed through the windows of several cars and whistled about the ears of the engine crew.

The train was made up of 11 cars, the third from the engine carrying most of the loot. When the car crew, consisting of Jacob Weise, T. Johnston, F. W. Cunningham, and R. M. Peterson, refused to open the doors, a fusilade of shotgun and revolver fire was turned on them and a tear gas bomb hurled into the car. The heavy fumes drove the crew out.

A second car was entered the same way. The men forced the clerks to sort out the sacks and deliver the money sacks. In the meantime other members of the gang kept guard over the train crew while still others of the robbers ransacked the remaining cars.

Sometime after midnight, the bandits using several automobiles, sped away. The alarm was given in a few minutes lates and police and citizens from a dozen cities hurried to the scene.

The money and bonds were being shipped from banks in Minneapolis, St. Paul, Milwaukee, and points farther in the northwest, including Seattle and Portland.

BETTING THAT BOUMERGUE WILL BE ELECTED

Paris, June 13.—Betting was 5 to 2 that M. Boumergue, president of the Senate, will be elected president of France [illegible] assembled to begin its balloting.

Election of Boumergue on the first ballot was forecast freely.

Police took very precaution to maintain order as the deputies and senators assembled. A strong cordon was thrown about the palace in Versailles where the balloting will take place. There were insistent rumors of a communist demonstration.

The conservative press this morning declared Boumergue will be an easy victor on the first ballot.

CONFECTIONERY MAN SAID SELLS "JAKEY"

Joseph Moskovitz, wholesale confectionery dealer of Monongahela, was arrested on a charge of transportation, sale, and possession of intoxicating liquors yesterday afternoon by minions of the law.

A total of 4,104 bottles of Jamaica ginger were found, 57 cartons being loaded on two trucks belonging to Moskovitz, which were in the garage at his home. The trucks were confiscated., Moskovitz was taken before Alderman R. L. Elwood, where he was given a hearing and pleaded guilty to the three charges. He gave bail in the sum of $1,000 for each of the charges for court.

Moskovitz for some time has been suspected by county and Monongahela authorities. The "jakey" was labeled "The Wonder Laxative" and is being manufactured by the Centoria company of Braddock. Moskovitz' traffic in "jakey" is declared to have extended over a wide radius.

DISTRICT ATTORNEY TO BRING MURDER CHARGES

Ebensburg, Pa., June 13—The district attorney here today will bring murder charges against alleged participants in the Lilly, Pa., Klan war, he has announced.

Thirty-one men yesterday were found guilty of "unlawful assemblage and affray" by a jury here yesterday in connection with the case. Seventeen of the convicted are reported to be Klan members and 14 are Lilly men. They were cleared of a riot chare.

Judge Robert Finletter, in charging the jury scored both factions in the sensational case. He said Klansmen had "dared" the residents of Lilly by appearing there in Klan regalia, and the latter had answered the challenge with "abuse and savagery."

Another case of smallpox was discovered in Donora yesterday—in new territory. The victim is Ross Kates, colored.

His is not a contact case, it was found. He is not thought to have been near anyone suffering from the disease and the part of the city where his home is located had not had a case of smallpox until yesterday.

He was removed to the isolation camp at Boyd's Ferry, where care is being taken of other cases. His home has been fumigated and quarantined. It was thought the disease had been checked here until the discovery of Kates' case.

AN AGED LADY DIES YESTERDAY

Mrs. Amelda Donaldson, aged 70 years, mother of Frank Donaldson, of McKean avenue, died yesterday afternoon at 3:30 o'clock following a week's illness due to pneumonia, at her late home in Beechwood, Pittsburgh. The deceased, who resided practically all her life in Pittsburgh, is survived by one daughter, Mrs. Harry Fisher, of Pittsburgh, and four sons, Frank Donaldson, Lee Donaldson of Homewood, Joy Donaldson of Homewood, and Oliver Donaldson of Beechview. She is also survived by 10 grandchildren.

Funeral services will take place Saturday afternoon at 2 o'clock from the late home with interment in the Homewood cemetery.

MURDER SUSPECT HAS AN ALIBI

Jim Lombardi, arrested at Monongahela Tuesday as a murder suspect and taken to Monessen, was released from custody yesterday morning

It was thought Lombardi was connected with the murder of Pasquale Serrano at Monessen on March 29, 1923. Lombardi is married to the widow of Serrano, and had been under suspicion in the mysterious killing. He was able to prove an alibi when grilled by the Monessen police.

SPIRIT OF GREEK WITH ATHLETES

Cambridge, Mass., June 13.—In the olden days the Greek—or it may have been the Roman—mothers used to tell their sons as they went to war: "Come back with your shield, or on it."

In just this spirit some 400 of America's finest amateur athletes gathered at Harvard Stadium today for the final track and field tryouts which will determine which of the 400 are fittest to wear the shield of the U. S. A. in the Olympic games at Paris.

Perhaps the penalty of failure is not as severe as in those old Spartan days, but the competition is as keen.

Towering muscular young men from the west coast are pitted against the strongest and fleetest of the east in unofficial but well recognized competition such as always develops when athletes from these sections meet.

Lobbies of Boston and Cambridge hotels swarm with them, easily recognizable even in "civilian" clothes, the bulging muscles and broad shoulders of the weight men, the lithe tread of the runners and jumpers.

The sky was overcast, with a possibility of showers later in the day. This was the only drawback, for all the cracks from coast to coast have shown up in good shape and there will be no excuses—only a few regrets, after the Olympic selection committee has chosen tomorrow night the team who will sail for Paris on Monday.

MEET TO ORGANIZE FOR THE CAMPAIGN

Cleveland, Ohio, June 13.—Torn by long hours of sleeplessness, study over one of the most amazing political situations that ever has featured a Republican National convention, members of the National Committee met today to organize for the forthcoming campaign.

All of the worry and some of the bitterness that repeatedly flared up through the struggle of the party leaders yesterday in seeking to nominate a strong running mate for President Calvin Coolidge, bristled militantly today as the new committeemen and women assembled to make William M. Butler their chairman for the campaign.

Of course, there is nothing to do but elect Butler to lead the National committee. It is the President's wish—and there are none to deny him. But it is perhaps unfortunate that the Coolidge-Dawes ticket goes to [illegible] sweepstakes with its jockey sharply at odds with the trainers and many of those conducting the race.

G. H. Thomas Is Dead At His Monessen Home

Goodloe Howard Thomas, age 48, managing editor of the Friday Evening Call of Monessen, well known and highly esteemed business man of the Monongahela valley, died yesterday afternoon at 5:50 o'clock, following a lingering illness due to leukemia, at his late home in 462 Park Way [illegible]

Ten years prior to his going to Monessen, Mr. Thomas resided in Charleroi, and enjoyed a large acquaintance of friends here. During this time he conducted a job printing establishment at the corner of Fifth street and Fallowfield avenue and for a number of years was managing editor of the Mail. Going to the city of Monessen sixteen years ago, he established the Friday Evening Call and business appertaining thereto and has resided there until his death yesterday.

The son of Philip and Sarah McCune Thomas, the deceased was born July 8, 1876, in Fayette county, near Brownsville. In the year 1896, he was united in marriage with Miss Bessie McCracken of West Virginia, who with two children, Arthur and Beryl, and one sister, Mrs. E. E. Hileman, of Fallowfield avenue, survive.

Funeral services will take place Friday afternoon at 2 o'clock, followed by interment in the Grandview cemetery.

Concert Given In H. S. Auditorium Is A Leader In Musicales

In a concert which, on its merits, should have been accorded a house filling every nook and corner of the High School auditorium, the Charleroi Choral society last night pleased a fair-sized audience—brought forth individual and collective plaudits as the numbers were produced. It was the consensus of opinion that the Choral society excelled even its efforts of the concert giving by it in the winter.

The concert was given under the direction of Chester C. Humphreys the money accruing being for the benefit of the Charleroi-Monessen hospital. Mr. Humphries engaged to assist him in the meritorious features, Mrs. Etta G. Cunningham, soprano; Mrs. Mary Reese Wilson, contralto, and Ernest C. Shultz, baritone, but at the eleventh hour Mr. Schultz telephoned his inability to come, and his place was substituted by Dr. George Kirk. The ladies and Dr. Kirk are all of Pittsburgh, the ladies being members of a Carnegie church choir, of which Mr. Humphreys is also a member. In passing, it might be said that the quartet work of the aforesaid, with Mr. Humphreys [illegible] the tenor roles, was one of the features of the musicale, as was a trio by Mrs. Cunningham, Dr. Kirk, and Mr. Humphreys.

Without claiming ability as a musical critic, it appealed to us that the chorus under the supervision of Mr. Humphreys is improving with time, its rendition of numbers last night reaching well night the acme of perfection. This fact, interspersed with the solo numbers of Mrs. Wilson, Mrs. Cunningham and Dr. Kirk, all artists superfine, contributed to perhaps the most classical musicale ever given in Charleroi.

RECEPTION FOR A LOCAL PASTOR

Rev. Frank S. Montgomery And Family at Washington Avenue Presbyterian Church Are Greeted In Their Advent to Borough

THE EDIFICE DECORATED

Pleasing Program Is Given—Local And Out-of-Town Pastors Are Present—Features Are the Repast And Presentation of Beautiful Bouquet

One of the most pleasing social events ever held in the Washington Avenue Presbyterian church was the reception given last night to the new pastor, Rev. Frank S. Montgomery, and family. All afternoon the ladies of the church had been busy with skilled hands and affectionate hearts decorating the church throughout and in arranging for delightful refreshments. At eight o'clock the receiving committee, composed of Mrs. Florence Allen, the pastor and his wife, and the elders of the church and their wives, formed in line at the door of the church and extended a welcoming hand to one and all. When the hour of 8:30 had arrived, the auditorium was filled with a most appreciative and enthusiastic audience. The program, which had been arranged by the committee, was in charge of Prof. J. L. Roberts, who presided with ease and grace. Greetings were brought by the pastors of the other churches of the town as far as they were able to be present, which were greatly appreciated by the large audience. Out-of-town ministers, who brought greetings and good wishes, were, the Rev. Walter G. Ramage, pastor of the Rehoboth church of Redstone Presbytery, and the Rev. Mr. Jewell, pastor of the church at Belle Vernon. Musical numbers, both vocal and instrumental, were interspersed with the addresses and were each and all rendered in a highly pleasing manner. Altogether, the program was as much as could be desired.

At the close of the feast of good things for the mind and soul, the pastor and his wife were invited to lead the audience to the dining room of the church, where they enjoyed the refreshments which the ladies had provided. The ministers and their wives, the officers of the church and their wives, and some others, were seated at the tables and the others were seated on the sides. The serving of the refreshments was followed by a short address by the pastor. A most pleasant feature of the closing moments was the presentation to the pastor and his wife of a beautiful bouquet the gift of Mrs. Joseph Miller. Mrs. Miller was unable to be present and the presentation speech was made by Dr. J. W. Manon. After singing "Blest Be the Tie That Binds," the audience dispersed to their homes each and all feeling that the evening was one long to be remembered for its good fellowship and promise of bright days ahead for the church.

GENERAL DAWES TO BRING THE PEP

Cleveland, Ohio, June 13. — "We want to put some pep and Hell and Maria into this campaign," yelled A. W. Jefferis, of Omaha, as he placed Gen. Charles G. Dawes in nomination [illegible] were still wandering about Cleveland after several hours of just that.

General Dawes was leaving Marietta, Ohio, for Chicago—the convention's choice for running mate with President Coolidge. A Republican convention has never before nominated [illegible] single day, but this one did. It is not [illegible] that a Republican convention loses such control of itself that the managers are not able to guide it exactly in the path they would have it go. But this one lost all control. It had plenty of speed in its closing hours, but was winding up like a southpaw and throwing vice presidential candidates all over the lake front.

IN THE WORLD OF SPORT

HARRY GREB WINS FROM MARTY BURKE

Harry Greb, middleweight champion of the world, the Pittsburgh giant killer last night again lived up to his reputation when he gave Marty Burke of New Orleans, light heavyweight, a most decisive beating in a 10-round bout in the inaugural of the new Olmpic arena. Although Burke towered over his little opponent full 10 inches and outweighed him 20 pounds, the Pittsburgh will o' the wisp completely outclassed the light heavyweight from Dixie.

Early in the fight a right uppercut by Greb opened a deep cut over Burke's nose and blood poured from the big fellow in streams. There were numerous clinches but nothing to stop the bout. Burke, however, was not materially damaged and by reason of his persistent clinching and holding tactics he managed to weather the fight to the limit of 10 rounds.

MITCHELL'S TEAM DRAWS WITH THE VANVOORHIS CLUB

Bert Mitchell's W. A. P. ball team and that representing Van Voorhis had to be content with a 4-4 tie last evening at the latter place. Darkness halted the game at the end of the seventh inning.

Fournier pitched a heady game and was able assisted by Mitchell. The runs made by the locals were the result of timely two-base hits by Lloyd and Haust, each driving in two runners.

TEAM COMING I WORTHY OF CHARLEROI'S STEEL

Tomorrow afternoon at 3:30 o'clock the crack Sackville Stogies of Waynesburg, the only club that has been able to lower the colors of the West Newton team this season, is the attraction at the Charleroi Baseball park.

An idea of the strength of the Stogies can be gained from the fact that they beat the California club 10 0 as their pitcher giving the California nine out one hit—a single.

Manager D. Cleve Mathers last night explained in part the poor showing of Beatty against the Grays and West Newton, by saying that the veteran injured his shoulder. Wheth[illegible] tomorrow will depend, it is to be presumed, on the condition of his shoulder and salaried wing. Manager Mathers will have a strong team on the field, however, realizing that if he can win over the Stogies, it will be a big boost for his team—and incidentally, the game in Charleroi

WEATHER MAN TREATS PIRATES VERY UNKINDLY

Shortly after the arrival of the Pirates in Philadelphia from New York on Wednesday night the weather man decided to send something which would lay the dust, but before he was through he had sent entirely too much wetness and the clans of Bill McKechnie and Art Fletcher had to worry along without a ball game. The rain did not see fit to pause until shortly before play time, but by noon Bill Baker's bandbox was as full of lakes as Nova Scotia, so yesterday's hostilities were declared off.

In looking over the schedule in quest of a Saturday on which to fill it with a double-header, which is a popular custom in Philadelphia as well as Brooklyn and one or two other points, it was found that the Buccaneers are booked for but two weekend basement champions.

Thanks to the victory of the Chicago Cubs over the Boston Braves yesterday the only game played in the National League, the Pirates by remaining idle slipped into undisputed possession of fifth place by just enough, while the Cubs are but half a game away from the leading Giants. This merely serves to show how close is the flag race in the Heydler circuit, when a club by sitting still can jump up a peg or so.

Those wise critics who have picked the Cubs to crack are saying very little. We could not see them as potential league leaders when the season opened but they have been one of the surprises of the season, and they are still very much in the thick of the pennant fight.

When Charley Hollocher joined the Bruins the team had started to slump. He injected the much needed pep and the players themselves think they have the best club in the National League.

That's the proper spirit, all right.

Task of Tea Tester

The grading of teas for market is accomplished by tasting. It cannot be done in any other way. To do it well is extremely difficult. Few men have the delicacy of taste required for the purpose, and they are able to command large salaries. An expert tea taster will often taste as many as 1,000 samples of tea in a day. He does not swallow the tea. To drink much tea would render his taste less accurate. Nevertheless, the professional tea taster is liable to suffer from headache, giddiness and other disagreeable symptoms.

"Curling"

"Curling" is an ancient game originating in Scotland, known to have existed previous to 1600. It is played on the ice with large, smooth stones of hemispherical form, to which are attached iron or wooden handles. The first club formed in the United States was at Pontiac, Mich., 1842. "Skip" is the name of the player, one on each side, under whose direction the ice is swept, this being done in a special manner. "Bonspiel" is the name for curling matches with picked players.

Hydrogen Sulphide

Add to the evil smell of hydrogen sulphide, a common gas, the essence of decayed eggs, the odium of being one of the most toxic of gases. It is comparable to deadly hydrogen cyanide in its rapidity of action, the concentration from which death will result. Two parts of hydrogen sulphide in 10,000 parts of air when breathed for a few days will cause death. Weaker concentrations will cause poisoning, and it is found in such quantities in some industries.

Midbar

A dictionary of the Bible says that the word wilderness or desert suggests to English hearers ideas which are foreign to the Hebrew word so translated: The word midbar occurs about 250 times in the Old Testament. It is translated wilderness in the authorized version, except in twelve passages, where the word is desert. Midbar is probably a tract to which herds are driven, an uncultivated region, but one where pasturage, however scanty, may be found.

In Society's Realm

Twelve pupils from the pianoforte class of Mrs. Thomas J. Dobson gave a student recital at her residence studio, 325 Broad avenue, Belle Vernon, Tuesday evening, June 10. Mr. Dobson, vocal student of Ralph B. Savage of Pittsburgh, sang two groups of numbers. The program was highly enjoyed by all present. At the conclusion of the evening, Mrs. Dobson with the ahsistance of Misses Stanger, Costella and Donohoe, served refreshments.

An interesting lesson on "Japan and Korea" was discussed at the regular meeting of the Standard Bearers class of the Methodist Episcopal church held last evening at the home of Miss Gertrude Donaldson of McKean avenue. This meeting was the last one of the summer months. A business meeting followed the lesson. During the social hour luncheon was served by the hostess assisted by her sister, Miss Ruth.

Miss Rita Crist, teacher of French in the Charleroi High School and dancing instructress, was accorded a farewell surprise party last evening at the home of Miss Sarah Welch of McKean avenue. Miss Crist is leaving next Tuesday to spend the summer months on an extended tour of France. The members of the mid-year graduating class and their friends were the guests present, all of whom spent a delightful evening in playing cards, games and dancing. Prominent on the evening's program was the presentation of gifts to the honored guest. Miss Welch, in a speech of well-chosen words, presented Miss Crist, in behalf of the guests, a number of beautiful gifts, which were accompanied by letters. Miss Crist was instructed to open her gifts and letters solely, each day of her long journey to France. This feature was followed by the serving of a dainty luncheon, appointments being carried out in the class colors of blue and gold.

Chess Tournament No Place for "Rooters"

Chess is one game, or sport, where the rooter is conspicuous by his absence. The stickler for golf etiquette who frowns if a robin chirps while some one is attempting to putt, would be considered a noisy nuisance at a chess tournament. A gallery of silent spectators may stand at a respectful distance from two masters of the game, but those of the gallery must keep quiet. If an important move is made—one that appears to have peculiar significance in regard to the outcome of the contest—there must be no cheering. Even nodding approval is barred if the nod will cause the collar to rattle.

Chess masters regard their pieces by the hour. Minutes will pass while all of the possibilities and eventualities are considered from every angle. There must be absolute quiet, for chess is a game for thinkers, and thinkers cannot be disturbed without serious consequences to their train of thought. The escaping of a sigh seems as loud as the exhaust of a locomotive. The dropping of a pin would be regarded as an outright violation of the code of ethics. Chess is a game where concentration rises to sublime heights and where silence is obligatory if not golden. Municipal authorities who have established quiet zones and then been at a loss to know how to maintain quiet in them might learn something from a chess tournament. Place a group of chess players in each zone.—Washington Star.

Ants Build Huge Mounds

Some surprising facts have been gathered concerning the mound making ants of the Alleghenies. McCook has measured some mounds more than thirty feet in circumference, although rarely more than three feet in height. But around these there are many new mounds in course of construction, only a few inches in height. They are found in groups, of which one contains 1,700 mounds within a space of 50 acres. Their total population is enormous, and each group of mounds appears to constitute a community—an insect kingdom or empire.

Use Fresh Water for Tea

Freshly boiled water should always be used in making tea. Unless it is boiling the stimulating property, theine, would not be extracted. Cooked water is insipid on account of the escape of its atmospheric gases. Tea should always be infused, not boiled. Long steeping destroys the delicate flavor by developing a larger amount of tannic acid. The stimulating property of coffee is due to caffeine. If coffee is boiled too long, there is too much caffeine present, and the same is true if water is added to old coffee grounds and cooked again.

Scythe Tree as Shrine

In Seneca county, New York, is a Balm of Gilead tree now famous because it holds a scythe hung there when the Civil war broke out, by Wyman James Johnson as he quit work to enlist. He died before the war was over. Since then the tree has been struck by lightning, but the scythe remained intact and two more were placed in the notch by youths who went to the European war. The tree has become a shrine for the surrounding country. Only six inches of the blade of the Johnson scythe now is visible.

THE MAN OF THE HOUR.

President Calvin Coolidge is the man of the hour. At the big Republican convention in Cleveland yesterday he was nominated for president to lead the Republican hosts in November—to victory. President Coolidge's nomination, a foregone conclusion, was one of the most remarkable in the history of the party that points with pride to the memories of such heroic leaders as Lincoln, Grant, Hayes, Garfield, Harrison, McKinley, Roosevelt, Taft, and Harding.

[illegible] on the only man which it is possible for them to elect. The Progressive element, led by United States Senator Robert M. LaFollette, had, in the last congress, did all they could to dissever the bonds which were united by Link L., and cemented through the years. They have made of congress, by blocking needed and helpful legislation, a congress that has been the storm center of criticism. Instead of the members of congress, in so many instances, following out the tenets and principles of right and working for the interests of the country and their constituents, they subordinated principle, have subterfuged most miserably in passing measures irrespective of their judiciousness, betraying a lack of business acumen, in, that where the money is to come from, is not assured. President Coolidge has met all these issues with a bravery that should commend him to the voting millions of the United States He has not played politics, but rather he has followed in that line of commendable New England sturdiness, manliness and honesty that would not allow him to be swerved from the path of duty. We believe that the right-thinking people of the nation are with him, whether the politicians are or not. It may be that he will have lost prestige by the exercise of his veto powers and prerogatives; but weigh carefully in the balance his vetoes, and it will be seen that in the majority of cases President Coolidge was right. He acquiesced in the tax bill, but is still confident that the Mellon plan is the best of anything yet presented for legislative action, and will work for a new tax bill which he deems will prove superior to the one now a law.

President Calvin Coolidge is safe, conservative, high-minded, judicious, and sound. He was reared by that sturdy and honorable New England ancestry whose watchword has been industry, honesty, and integrity. With his calm and mature judgment and unswerving devotion to principle, he will, if elected in November, lead the ship of state through the troublous waters into the harbor of safety.

Vishnu

In Hindu mythology Vishnu is the second god of the "trimurti," or trinity, in which he figures as the preserver of the universe. His friendship for man was manifested in his avatars, or incarnations, which according to some authorities number ten, and according to others twenty-two. Of these avatars the two principal ones were the seventh, as Rama, the hero of the Ramayana, and the eighth, as Krishna, the hero of the Mahabharata. Vishnu is generally represented as a dark-blue man, having four arms, and is worshiped chiefly by the middle classes. He originally figured as a sun-god in the oldest Vedas, but gradually increased in importance until in the later Puranas he became the supreme deity.—Kansas City Star.

Pearls in History

Few jewels have played a more conspicuous part in history than the pearl. Pliny thought it was a drop of dew swallowed by the oyster, while the American savage believed that it was made of sunbeams and petrified dewdrops. The manner in which the real [illegible]

A grain of sand irritates the sensitive oyster and the mollusk proceeds to smooth it by depositing around it layer after layer of the nacre with which his shell is lined. In the South Kensington museum there is a pearl two inches deep and two and a half inches in diameter. Think of the long process and the discomfort of the creature which produced it.

THE OFFICE CAT

Nothing gives an honest man such a wholesome feeling as writing checks to pay his bills.

It is easier to make an enemy of a friend than a friend of an enemy.

POOR CAMOUFLAGE.

The pharmacy blush so often seen
On the girl who has danced till dawn,
Is the same as painting the bare ground green
And saying you have a lawn.

She was so dumb she thought garter snakes were found on the limbs of trees.

If they keep on discovering political issues, Atlanta and Leavenworth will be crowded.

"Not So Hot" said the boarder as he felt that water he had drawn for his bath.

[illegible] font, bearing an infant on each arm, it was plain to see that he was intoxicated. Quite sloppy, in fact. The minister said:

"Girls or boys?"

"One of each, fifty-fifty."

"And the proposed names?"

"Steak 'n Kidney."

As they hustled him out of the church he explained thickly that he meant "Kate and Sydney."

"The tie that binds!" exclaimed the guest of honor at the lynching party.

Just a little while ago the fellow smeared with oil was a mechanic, not a statesman.

"Give me the air" said the singer to her accompanist. He didn't have to—the audience did that.

Denmark's queen went skating and fell through the ice. That's what's rotten in Denmark—the ice.

Do your own proposing. If you must, girls, but for a man, it takes all the thrill out of hunting to have the bird come right up and stick its little head in the muzzle of the gun.

Yes, madam, this ring is usually unique. It was given by Caesar to Cleopatra, while he was in Egypt. We are selling a great number of them this year.

Don't turn a thing down because you do not believe it — learn the truth.

Mummies Don't Last

Many persons are curious to know what a mummy looks like after it is unwrapped. Recently at the Cleveland Museum of Art a mummy case which had been on exhibition since 1914 was opened and the numerous bandages covering the remains were unwound. Nothing was found inside but a skeleton and some cheap blue porcelain beads that had evidently once formed a string. Not only the flesh had disappeared but time had disjointed the bones. There was a strong odor of balsam. The mummy was that of Senbi, a king's scribe, who died in the Twelfth Egyptian dynasty, some four thousand years ago. It was found in Egypt. Senbi was of mixed Egyptian and Asiatic blood and died about the age of thirty-five.

African "Conjuring"

On the west coast of Africa natives of the "bush" claim to have two souls. One animates the person's human body, the other takes on the "were (wer) shape," by means of a magic draft handed down through the ages. In that land evil spirits lurk in the rocks, trees and the rivers. Here the Goddess Nimm (great oval-shaped rock in a river) keeps her vigil and doles out revenge or help to the supplicant at her shrine. Sixty per cent of the deaths in West Africa are believed to be due to witchcraft or sorcery. From these ancestors our southern negro inherits his belief in the power of the voodoo, and his "conjuring" practices [illegible] "bush" folk.—New York Times.

Fabre's Rebuttal.

Others again have reproached me with my style, which has not the solemnity, nay, better, the dryness of the scientific. They fear lest a page that is read without fatigue should not always be the expression of the truth. Were I to take their word for it, we are profound only on condition of being obscure. Come here, one and all of you—you, the sting-bearers, and you, the wing-cased armor-clads—take up my defense and bear witness in my favor. Tell of the intimate terms on which I live with you, of the patience with which I observe you, of the care with which I record your actions. Your evidence is unanimous; yes, my pages, though they bristle not with hollow formulae nor learned smatterings, are the exact narrative of facts observed neither more nor less; and whose cares to question you in his turn will obtain the same replies.—Jean Henri Fabre

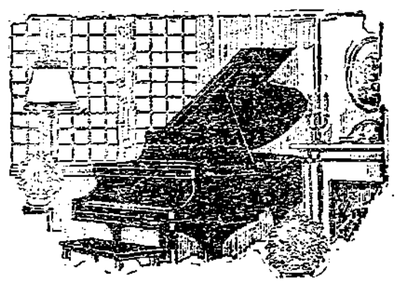
KURTZMANN

"The Piano that Endures"



The Well Built Piano
For The Well Built Home

TO the family that is building a new home, the Kurtzmann has a particular appeal.

It takes almost as long to build the enduring Kurtzmann, from 8 to 12 months, as it does to construct an enduring home. Good workmanship also is a prime factor, for unlike the home, a piano can not be held together by nails which would work loose and vibrate, but must be skilfully built up and glued in laminated warp-proof sections.

The fact that over 16 pounds of glue are used to build the Kurtzmann instrument, gives some idea of the thoroughness with which the Kurtzmann is constructed all the way from the inner frame to the final layer of Santo Domingo mahogany or specially matched American walnut.

If the Kurtzmann were built to your own specifications you could not admire it more strongly. And the idea of moving a new Kurtzmann into the new home is a timely thought, especially when the old piano can be traded in so advantageously.

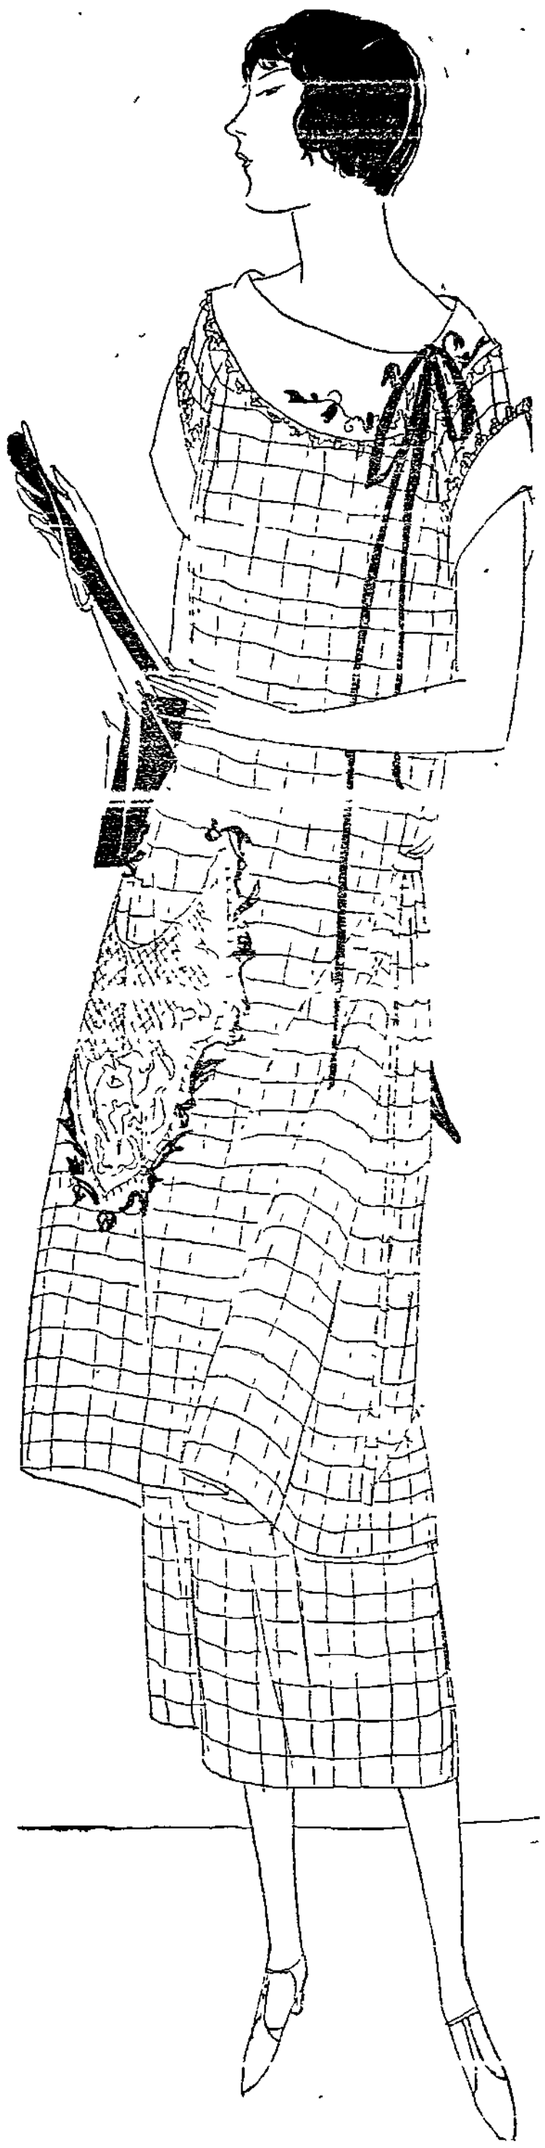
Good Fortune Smiles Again On Our Many Friends and Patrons

A Special Purchase and Sale of 2700 NEW

SILK DRESSES



THIS is an exceptional offer, to the people of Charleroi and vicinity. Our buyer in New York wired us that he had made a wonderful purchase for us of about two thousand, seven hundred snappy and up-to-the-minute silk dresses to sell at a price that would be talked about for weeks after the sale. Your real chance to own that wonderful dress is here. See them in our window and note the prices.

How It Happened

No one could foresee the trend of business six months' ago. Manufacturers increased their plant production and manufacturing facilities tremendously in anticipation of a big season's demand. The late Spring season, bad weather, etc., however, retarded buying, and a general slowing down of demand caused factory after factory stocks to pile up. Manufacturers were eager to take their losses and convert them into cash quickly. Right out of a clear sky came offer after offer of merchandise of fine quality, dresses at reductions that are in some cases 25 percent, 33 1-3 percent, and even 50 percent. Our New York buyer sensed here an unusual opportunity to secure some of these dresses at a phenomenal low figure. The message Mr. Wayne received sounded like "Arabian Nights." He wired back his confirmation, so here they are, 2700 dresses that will almost take your breath away.

Venetian Mirror Makers Once Had World Monopoly

In picturesque Venice, the center of the arts during the Middle ages, a few clever experimenters rediscovered the old secrets of mirror making and even improved upon the ancient masterpieces. They made an amalgam of lead and tin with which they "silvered" their mirrors, and conquered the attention of all Europe, and the other parts of the world then commercially known.

Venetian mirrors were almost priceless, so highly were they esteemed. Vincent de Beauvais, writing in 1250, declared that the mirror of glass and lead was a marvel and the best of all. Kings tried to make arrangements through special emissaries and ambassadors to have mirror makers come to their courts—but in vain. The Venetian doges proclaimed a law that any glass maker carrying his art into a foreign state should be forced to return; if he did not, his closest relatives were arrested and imprisoned as hostages.

Should he still remain at the court of a foreign king, special agents were sent to kill him and destroy his establishment. This state of affairs lasted until the reign of Louis XIV of France, when Colbert, the famous minister, began to break up the Venetian monopoly of mirror making. In the face of all the disastrous laws of Italy, he imported twenty artisans from the mirror guild of Venice, and established them in Paris in the Faubourg St. Antoine, where they enjoyed the protection and patronage of the king.

Thus was the mirror industry firmly established in France. Later on, when it was safe, these artisans were distributed to other parts of the kingdom, and several manufactories started in the provinces.

Romance Courts History

Among some historians is the belief that the Croatian Indians of North Carolina are in effect the descendants of Sir Walter Raleigh and that among the survivors of the old tribe are some who are the descendants of Virginia Dare, the first white child born on American soil of English parents. The lost colony of Roanoke was one of Raleigh's unsuccessful attempts to establish a colony.

American in Daring Stunt

Disguised as a Chinese coolie, William M. McGovern, American, acting for the British government, entered the mystic capital of Tibet, Lhassa, and for two months photographed and recorded the peculiarities of its 2,000,000 inhabitants.

Saved by Pig's Ear

A truck loaded with pigs plunged through a bridge at Pittsburgh. The driver was drowned but John Remenscheneider, his companion, escaped by clinging to the ears of a swimming pig which dragged him to shore.

Three in School District

In a sparsely settled portion of Kansas there resides a man and his wife, with a son and daughter. This constitutes the entire population of the school district, and every year the man, his wife and son elect themselves as the three members of the school board. Then they vote a six-months' term of school at $40 a month, and employ the daughter as teacher. Her only pupil is her brother, and he attends just when he feels like it. At least, that was the procedure until the scheme was found out.

No Machines on This

Of all American industries, that of making maple sugar is one of the most fascinating. Certainly none other has retained so great a measure of dependence upon the skill of the individual. It boasts many traditions. In a machine age it has found machines inadequate. It has never been and never will be a large-scale industry. In the quality of its product and largely in the methods of its marketing it is a personal proposition.—Nature Magazine.

Origin of Term "Dun"

Opinion differs as to the origin of the term "dun," used for a missive seeking to collect money. Some maintain it is derived from the French word "donnez," meaning "give," but others claim it comes from the name of Joe Dun, famous as a bailiff in the time of Henry VII, for having collected so many debts. It is said that in those days when a man refused to pay it became a saying, "Why don't you Dun him?"

Made Name as Sculptor

Clark Mills was an American sculptor, born in Onondaga county, N. Y., December 1, 1815. He died January 12, 1883. In 1848, when he was on the eve of leaving for Europe to study the art of sculpture, he received a commission to erect an equestrian statue of General Jackson. According to the story, Mills had never even seen an equestrian statue. He, however, set to work, designed his model and then found it necessary to learn the art of bronze casting, inasmuch as there was no one in this country prepared to mold his figure in bronze. The statue of General Jackson by Mills is in Lafayette square, Washington, and a replica is in New Orleans.

Not Such a Bargain

A gentleman at a country fair was solicited by a lady attending one of the booths to buy something. He gallantly replied that what he would care to buy he feared would not be for sale—a lock of her hair. To his amazement and delight, she quickly cut off the coveted curl and smilingly received the price offered—$10. The proud purchaser was exhibiting his joy by the remark: "She rather got the best of the deal, for to my certain knowledge, she only paid $4 for the whole wig."

Morher Tells Very Remarkable Story

Sulac Given Credit For Restoring Health

Remarkable New Remedy Continues Its Early Record of Sensational Successes

Every mother who has seen her children suffer from indigestion, constipation and the other forms of stomach trouble that have compelled her to deny them the candy and sweets that other children thrive on will be interested in the following statement made by Mrs. Boyd Shick, of New Bethelehem:

"Ever since my boy was a baby he has been delicate and underweight. He has suffered constantly with his stomach, and constipation. Always took cold easily and nothing we ever did for him would make him gain weight or strength.

"Every time he would eat candy or sweets like the other "kids" he would have a terrible spell. We have bought all kinds of medicines for him but they did not help. So far he has taken four bottles of Sulac and it has worked wonders with him. Indigestion and constipation are all gone, he eats anything he wants and is gaining weight right along. I can truthfully state that Sulac has done the work for him, I have recommended it to friends of mine and I am glad to tell anyone that Sulac is the best remedy I know of for Stomach trouble and Constipation.

Yours very truly,
Mrs. Boyd Shick
New Bethlehem, Pa.

Bread Baked 4,400 Years Ago Found on the Nile

A loaf of brown "famine" bread sold during the Peninsular war has been presented to Coventry City Guild museum, together with a small and faded notebook in which the owner wrote that he intended to keep the bread as a memento of the high price of corn at that time.

But this loaf is new when compared with others that have been discovered at different times. Few people, for instance, would care to put their teeth into the loaf which is still preserved at Ambaston, Derbyshire. It is 700 years old, and was given to the Soar family with a grant of land by King John.

Several years ago, a French explorer found an Assyrian loaf, which, it was estimated, had been baked in the year 560 B. C., and was, therefore, about 2,500 years old. In shape it resembled a bun. It was discovered, wrapped in a cloth, in an ancient tomb where it had probably been put by the superstitious Assyrians to be used as food by the dead person during his journey to another world.

Many years ago an oven was found at Pompeii, containing several loaves, slightly charred, but all bearing the bakers' name. What is easily the oldest loaf in existence, however, is the one discovered by an Egyptian explorer on the banks of the Nile in 1905. It was baked in the year 2500 B. C., and is, therefore, over 4,400 years old. —London Answers.

Star's Admirer Given Shock by Her Manager

A touring company was going the round of some of the provincial towns, and everywhere the audience waxed enthusiastic over the juvenile lady.

One evening a youthful admirer sought the manager, a tall, fine-looking man, and endeavored to obtain an introduction to the fascinating little lady. He had, he said, admired her acting very much.

"It must be very pleasant to know her," he suggested. "No doubt you who see her so often are very fond of her?"

"Yes," admitted the manager, "I suppose I am rather fond of her."

"Perhaps you've known her for some time?" ventured the other.

"Yes, quite a long time," answered the manager.

"But it can't be so very long," protested the admirer; "why, she's little more than a girl."

Then suddenly a horrible suspicion came to him, and he stammered: "You—you're not her husband, are you?"

"No, oh, no," said the manager, with an amused smile; "only her son."

Can't Classify Bacteria

Scientists are still trying to determine whether bacteria are animals or plants. When these ubiquitous organisms were first discovered they were described as animalcules. The layman still insists on calling them "bugs." Haeckel once proposed placing them along with lower plants and animals difficult to classify in a new classification, "protista." The new tendency is to assign these micro-organisms to the plant world. They resemble some of the algae in form, mode of reproduction and absence of a definite nucleus; yet those which possess flagella show points of resemblance with some of the protozoa. Bacteria closely resemble plants from the chemical standpoint in possessing marked chemo-synthetic power in nitrogen metabolism, leading to the production of such complex compounds as amino-acids and purins from no other source of nitrogen than ammonia.

Courtesy

Courtesy is the one medium of exchange that is always accepted at par by the people of every country on the globe. Courtesy radiates a spirit of good feeling and suggests that we are not working entirely for the material returns of work, but for the pleasure of friendly human association as well. Life is not too short and we are never too busy to be courteous. Courtesy is the outward expression of an inward consideration for others, and is always an effective lubricant that smooths business and social relationships, eliminating friction.—Trolley Items.

BOARD OF INQUIRY TO LOOK INTO FATAL EXPLOSION

Los Angeles, Calif., June 13.— A naval board of inquiry will be appointed at once to investigate the fatal explosion of the dreadnaught Mississippi, it was announced today.

The death list stood at 48, with more than a score injured.

The terrific blast let go on the giant battleship, one of the finest of the fleet, late yesterday. The first was during Secret war practice off San Pedro and the second in the harbor, after the big vessel had raced into port with her dead and injured.

An explosion in a gun breech was responsible for the accident, according to preliminary reports. Most of the dead and injured were in a steel turret behind the great rifle and were trapped with no chance to escape.

The second explosion came when a shell still remaining in one of the huge rifles let go after the dreadnaught had dropped anchor in the harbor. The big 14-inch projectile tore out across the bay narrowly missing the steamer Yale, with a large passenger list which was just putting out to see Four men were crushed from the recoil of the great gun.

Following the second disaster the Mississippi put out to sea again to avoid the menace of possible additional explosions to shipping and the city.

The Mississippi with the Tennessee, Idaho, and California steamed out of San Pedro bay shortly after noon yesterday for target practice.

Aboard the Mississippi three fourteen-inch guns were loaded for a broadside The huge shells were placed in the breech, followed by four sacks of powder, each containing 45 pounds, tossed to one side of the fatal rifle.

The breeches of guns five and six were snapped shut and that of gun four was slammed, but something jammed. At that minute the signal was given to turn on the electricity which discharged the giant rifles.

Eighty odd men working on gun four were trapped in a steel cage designed to withstand the most terrific gun fire. They were burned, crushed and mangled by the explosion. Those in the turret were killed instantly.

The four sacks of powder lying beside the gun joined in the blast and the turret roof was blown into fragments. Those standing nearest the door in the handling room were killed instantly, and others in the rear of the room were among the injured.

Following the explosion rescue work was impossible as flames broke out threatening the ship. Rescuers running with air hose to relief of those imprisoned in the steel cage were forced back by the fire.

An air hose only served to fan the flames to greater intensity but four streams of water were thrown on the fire, and it was soon extinguished.

As soon as the dead and injured were landed on the hospital ship. Relief, the Mississippi was again put to sea in fear that other explosions might occur. Members of the crew were not allowed to land.

Tales of heroism came up from the explosion, however, one concerning a seaman who sensed the peril of the entire enlisted crew of the ship, numbering more than 1,000. After the first explosion he turned on the water and allowed it to flood the turret, thereby preventing explosion of the entire ship's store of ammunition. The man is believed to be one of those found dead in the turret room

In Memoriam

In loving memory of our dear father and grandfather, George W. Silence, who died one year ago today, June 13, 1923.

In that lone and silent graveyard,
There we see a mossy mound;
That is where our father's sleeping
In that cold and silent ground.
Gently waves the weeping willow,
Birds there warble and sing at dawn,
But Oh! we are so sad and lonely
Since our father is dead and gone.
Oft we stray to that lonely graveyard.
Flowers to plant with tender care;
Darkness finds us weeping there.
Looking at the skies above us,
Waiting for the heavenly dawn,
For Oh! we are so sad and lonely,
Since our dear father is dead and gone.

Sadly missed by wife, children and grandchildren. 8t1p.

Garden Moles

The chief food of ordinary garden moles is composed of earthworms, grubs, caterpillars and insects of various kinds. In captivity moles have been known to eat birds, mice and other flesh. During the summer these little animals burrow about in the light topsoil searching for food. They go deeper in winter and hibernate, or at least live in a semi-dormant state. Although moles do considerable damage by upheaving the ground in lawns and gardens, they partly recompense for this harm by destroying insects which prey upon the roots of plants. The eyes of the moles are very small and sunken, being almost hidden in the soft fur. It is now believed that the eyes of garden moles are degenerate and serve practically no use as organs of sight. Moles seldom come to the surface of the ground except at noontime. This habit has often been observed, but never adequately explained.—The Pathfinder.

How Many Is a Few?

"An editorial under the caption of 'How many is a few?' recalls to my mind an incident of my boyhood," writes a resident of Buena Vista, Colo., to the Pathfinder. "I was assisting my father, who was a minister in the Congregational church, in excavating a well, my duties being to turn the windlass which drew the buckets of dirt to the surface. I called father's attention to the fact that it was almost quitting time and he remarked that he would take out a few more buckets. I asked him how many a few was. He replied that 'according to the Bible a few meant eight.' Accordingly, we took out eight more buckets of dirt, and the same evening I asked him where he obtained the information as to a few meaning eight. For answer he referred me to I Peter 3:20 where, in speaking of the ark, it states a "few, that is, eight souls, were saved by water.'"

Origin of Adam's Apple

The Adam's apple, which is a projection or enlargement on the forepart of the throat, received its name from the old absurd belief that when Eve gave Adam the forbidden fruit, which was supposedly an apple, a portion of it lodged in his throat. This theory was all the more plausible from the fact that the Adam's apple is visible on men but rarely noticeable on women, and then usually only late in life. According to the superstition the lump caused by this piece of apple in Adam's throat was transmitted to his descendants and became a characteristic of the human race. The projection is produced by the thyroid cartilage of the larynx.

Close of Ancient History

The date used for the close of ancient history is usually 476 A. D. The date for the closing of medieval history is not so closely defined. Some historians take the beginning of the Sixteenth century—about the time of the discovery of America, some others use the date 1648 A. D., making the Middle ages include the time between the establishment of the first barbarian kingdom in Italy and the general pacification of Europe, at the close of the Thirty Years' war.

Kind of Trailer

A German inventor has perfected a handy trailer for bicycles or motor vehicles, especially designed for the housewife. It is in the shape of a rubber-tired disk, which may be attached to any vehicle. It is so constructed that it can be opened at one side and stored with a considerable load. It is popular among students, for instance, who have to carry several books and who use bicycles.

Oak Good Grower

Scarlet oak is even less exacting as to soil than the red oak, says the American Tree association. It will grow almost anywhere and the brilliant coloring of its autumn foliage fully justifies its name. A row of these oaks brightens the landscape with the striking beauty of a forest of flame.

Signers of Declaration

The Declaration of Independence was signed by men who represented many vocations. There were twenty-four lawyers, fourteen farmers, nine merchants, four doctors of medicine or surgery, one minister, one manufacturer and three who had miscellaneous callings. Washington is classed as a farmer.

Extracts Color With Filter

Color has been extracted from wine, tea and milk by a new filter perfected by Dr. H. S. Hele-Shaw of London, it is claimed. He passes the liquid under pressure through many thousand of tightly packed perforated sheets of paper.

The Deadly Mosquito

The yellow fever mosquito, one of the commonest household mosquitoes in the Gulf states, has been shown to be responsible also for carrying dengue or "breakbone" fever.

POLA NEGRI'S NEW PICTURE HER BEST

"Men," Pola Negri's new Paramount picture, written and directed by the Russian producer, Dimitri Buchowetzki, the man who made "Peter the Great," was shown for the first time in the Coyle Theatre yesterday It's a great dramatic story of modern France, a tale of love and persecution.

Polo plays the role of "Cleo," waitress in a shore front cafe in Marseilles. And what a role it is! Here's the Pola of the old European productions, the Pola of "Passion" and the rest, Pola in a picture that is going to make the screen world sit up and take notice—take a new interest in life. Here's Pola in her greatest role in a story with a happy ending

Good as was "Shadows of Paris," and the other American made Negri pictures, they don't even begin to compare with "Men." You never saw such a vital, fishing Pola before in your life. Paramount claims Buchowetzki wrote the story some time ago ten years to be exact, with Pola Negri in mind for the starring role and that time after time the occasion presented itself to picturize the story with another star. But Buchowetzki waited. We'll admit it was worth waiting for.

GOOD BILLS AT THE MAJESTIC

The Majestic has good bills today and tomorrow.

For the second time in his screen career John Gilbert has the role of a man serving a prison sentence. In the picture Gilbert makes an escape which calls for a dive from a prison wall in the dark. The height from the top to the bottom to the water was 84 feet. This is one of the thrilling bits of action in the story, which has many stirring moments.

Evelyn Brent plays opposite John Gilbert in "The Lone Chance." Miss Brent's costume is of the latest fashion, a creation any girl would be proud to wear. The dress is rich lustrous white satin, trimmed with genuine imported lace.

Tomorrow, Tom Mix in "The Trouble Shooter." You can't afford to miss this one. Mix plays the title role as a lineman for a western power company which strings wire through the mountains. Thrills, romance, pathos and humor mingle freely in one of the most notable yarns of Mix's career before the camera. A real treat for the whole family. Don't forget to bring the kiddies for it's the show they have been waiting to see. The management requests that all children attend the matinee.
